As I prepare to write this article I am wondering where the summer went? We are now facing August on the calendar and all that comes with it: a new school year, Rally Day, regular worship hours, Sunday school resuming, MOTA (Ministry Open to All) activities, Wednesday Night Live (in September), school athletics, and all the rest! Whew, I'm tired just thinking about it all!

We are excited to announce some new things happening at First Presbyterian. We are adding a couple of Sunday school classes for children and one new adult class. Maribeth Crawford, Chairperson of Christian Education, will be telling you about the children's classes in another newsletter article found in this issue. So I want to tell you about the new adult class offering beginning on August 27 at 9:30 a.m., which is the date when all of our Sunday school classes resume.

We are a congregation with a variety of theological perspectives and interests. Some people are more interested in spirituality and ways to deepen their personal faith. Some are most interested in Bible study and delving into what the text, in its original languages, has to say. Currently, our existing Sunday school classes meet these needs and interests. The Pathfinders class reads various books and watches a video series here and there. Cheryl Pittman has written a nice article in this issue with a broader survey of the class. Dr. Terry Foreman, a retired Religious Studies professor, teaches an in depth study of the biblical text. The name of the class is Zeteo, which means roughly “to seek in order to find.” He is not only proficient in Greek and Hebrew, but he has a wide knowledge about Christianity and its history. These two classes have good attendance and certainly meet many needs and desires.

Our new class will be video and discussion centered. That way, we will not have to prepare ahead of time by reading, but can come “as is!” This class will not have an assigned teacher, but it will have volunteers who will take turns facilitating the discussion. This simply means that the facilitator for that week will have a rough outline of questions for discussion by the group. That’s it! The class will be self taught because it is discussion based. The beauty of this design is that no one is burdened with “teaching” the class. The class may be hearing from theologians and scholars like Rob Bell, Adam Hamilton, Marcus Borg, John Dominic Crossan, Bart Ehrman, Richard Rohr, and Barbara Brown Taylor, just to name some of the possibilities.

Since we are adding three new Sunday school classes this fall (two elementary and one adult), our space is at a premium. If there are no serious qualms about it, we would like to propose they meet in the following spaces:

- ◆ Grades K-3: Middle Classroom
- ◆ Grades 4-7: Children Worship & Wonder Room
- ◆ New Adult Class: Fellowship Hall
- ◆ Zeteo: Session Room
- ◆ Pathfinders Class: Sanctuary

There will be a nursery available for children who are not ready for Sunday school. So I hope everyone will take advantage of the new opportunities. A great big “thank you” goes out to all those people that have volunteered to help teach. You are changing lives and helping the Holy Spirit deepen faith! God bless you.

Shalom, Pastor Renee

Vacation Bible School 2017

Theme: Maker Fun Factory

We wrapped up another fun-filled week of Vacation Bible School! We had a most successful event this year and would like to think we've made an impact on the hearts and minds of many—both young and young at heart. We would like to thank our Church Members and Volunteers who helped with the week-long event; it could not have been possible without the time and talents of our generous community-wide volunteers. Thank you for your gift of service! It's a blessing to see churches coming together for this special outreach.

"How precious is Your steadfast love, O God! The children of men take refuge and put their trust under the shadow of Your wings." Psalm 36:7

Education Committee

Coming soon: Elementary Sunday School!

Great things are happening with our Education ministry at First Presbyterian Church: We are excited to announce that we will offer an Elementary Age Sunday School class this fall! Starting on August 27th at 9:30, Elementary students will explore the Bible through the award-winning Deep Blue series curriculum. This awe-inspiring resource for children includes adventure, exciting stories, science experiments, arts and crafts, animated video storytelling, and active games—all combined into a faith experience that helps children discover what it means to be a disciple of Jesus Christ today! Students will learn about Joseph in Egypt, Moses crossing the Sea, the Ten Commandments, and more. The Sunday school will be broken down into two age groups: K-3, and 4-7. If you are interested in teaching our young disciples on a rotation, feel free to contact Maribeth Crawford by email at mcrawford8@murraystate.edu.

2017 Expenses as of June 30: $85,949

Remaining Mortgage Balance as of June 30: $27,949

Holly Berry Fundraiser

Holly Berry--Just Over Three Months Away...

It's not too soon to be thinking about how you can be involved with the Fall 2017 Holly Berry Bazaar and Bake Sale. It will be held on Saturday, November 11th. As you are canning or pickling, remember to put some jars aside for the sale. We will work together on roll-making in October and November in the church kitchen and that is a wonderful opportunity for fellowship while we work. Importantly, keep in mind that proceeds from the sale will largely fund our purchase of food supplies for the back pack program for this coming December. Give me a call if you have questions. I look forward to working with you for this important annual event in the life of our church.

Café Justo

COFFEE IS HERE, “GRACIAS A DIOS!”

A new shipment of Café Justo (Just Coffee) has arrived from the roasting and shipping facility in Agua Prieta, Sonora, Mexico. If you have wanted to get a bag of good, pure Just Coffee lately, you may have been disappointed not to find it in its usual place in the narthex. Shipment of the order placed on June 12 had been delayed due to the possibility of changes to the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA). Adrian González, Café Justo customer service director, explained the delay in an email.

“For the last five weeks we couldn't export any coffee due to new regulations implemented by the Mexican Customs in preparation for the upcoming NAFTA new negotiations. Since day one we did everything to comply and fulfill all the new requirements but the process took longer what we initially anticipated, and this caused the delay for you to receive your order. Today finally we are got the approval to be able to export coffee again, Gracias a Dios!

“...I want to finish by telling you how much we appreciated your support and patience during this difficult time, and to ensure you that we don't take you for granted and we are very grateful for the relationship that through Café Justo we have been able to develop. Again Muchas gracias and you will be able to enjoy your cup of coffee very soon!”

Just Coffee is available in the narthex every Sunday. Pound bags of organic, fair trade plus, shade grown, top quality Arabica coffee in whole-bean, ground, and decaf Arabica are $11. (Make checks payable to Presbyterian Women.) Enjoy your coffee and help support the livelihoods of Mexican coffee farmers and their families. See also www.justcoffee.org

Soup For The Soul

We fed 95 people on July 17th at Soup for the Soul! George Kipphut, Claire, Donna Leigh, Whitey Adams, Shirley Latto and I were scrambling around creating more food, as we were told to prepare for about 50 people. George and Whitey had to make 3 large bowls of salad since the first one was gone in no time. Joan, we found out that Whitey makes a great looking salad so you can put him in that role at home now! Sorry Whitey!! We cooked 3 large bags of popcorn chicken and ended up heating up a 4th. Shirley created two of the largest containers of oven browned potatoes and there was not one scrap left! In fact, we learned something about Shirley that we never knew. Her parents ran a small restaurant near Lake Barkley for years and Shirley still has all the skills required! In fact, if you'd like to learn more about your church family while you help a wonderful cause, give me a call and I'll gladly sign you up for Sept. 17th, that's our next time to serve! There is never a dull moment! A big thank you to all of the hard workers! Also, Soup for the Soul is hosting its first ever Thank You party for all of its volunteers and their families. The "street party" will take place August 12th from 6 - 8 at Murray Family Church. There will be food and fun for the whole family with seating inside and out. If you have helped with Soup for the Soul come out and join the fun! Ann Stanley, 753-8747 asjstanley33@twc.com

Presbyterian Women

The Presbyterian Women will resume meeting again in September to gear up for another year of service. We are always looking for new members. If you have been wanting to get involved in this important ministry that serves our community and beyond, you are encouraged to join us for our monthly, "Brown Bag Lunch" meetings, which are held at First Presbyterian Church on the first Monday of each month, October through May. This casual get-together begins at 11:30am. Simply bring your sandwich and we will provide the beverage, desert, and fellowship! While we enjoy the time we share as friends, our Presbyterian women also serve in many capacities, benefiting not only our church, but our local community, nation and world. We invite any woman, church member or not, to come and fellowship with us! Please contact Ann Stanley (270-753-8747) or asjstanley33@twc.com for more information.

We would like to take this opportunity to recognize Dr. Christopher Mitchell, who will be stepping down in August from his position of Choir Director at First Presbyterian Church. Christopher was hired as our Choir Director in September of 2012. During his tenure with us, Christopher's thoughtful musical programming has made an indelible mark on our hearts. Church members were often treated to the gift of music from his talented family members, too; Laynie, Sam, and Lucy, thank you for sharing your delightful musical gifts with us! Christopher, we appreciate the role you've served in our church. You have strengthened and improved not only the quality of our musical program, but also the talents of our singers. Your positive, easy-going attitude and leadership has been a blessing to our Church ministry. We wish you the best as you continue to pursue your professional endeavors at Murray State University.

We are pleased to welcome Kate Tombaugh as our new Choir Director, who will be starting this Fall. While we have come to know Kate and her wonderful family as members of First Presbyterian Church, we thought this would be a perfect opportunity for you to get to know your new Choir Director a little more.

Mezzo-soprano Kate Tombaugh is originally from Streator, Illinois (north central IL). She holds dual undergraduate degrees in English Literature and Vocal Performance from Illinois Wesleyan University, and a masters degree in Voice, Opera Performance from CCM, the College-Conservatory of Music at the University of Cincinnati.

Kate has a rich background in choral singing. She grew up singing in her home church's junior and senior choirs at Park Presbyterian Church under the direction of her mother; in later years, she served as their Cherub Choir Director. She was the Youth Choir Director at Second Presbyterian Church in Bloomington, IL for one year where she also served as a three-year choral intern while studying at IWU. During all four years of college, Kate sang and toured with the Collegiate Choir, including an overseas trip to Russia and the three Baltic States. While studying in Cincinnati, Kate was a three-year choral intern at St. Thomas Episcopal Church.

Kate runs a private voice studio in Murray and is the Executive Director of a new arts organization, Poco a Poco, which hosts a week-long Summer Music Festival and training program in Illinois every June.

An avid performer, Kate has sung as a young artist with the Santa Fe Opera, Utah Opera, and Opera Theatre of St. Louis, in addition to portraying leading roles with Indianapolis Opera, Winter Opera St. Louis, and the Cincinnati Chamber Opera. She has also soloed with the Paducah Symphony, Utah Symphony, Jackson Symphony, and the Lexington Philharmonic, among others.

Kate's husband, composer Dr. Steven Weimer, is on the music faculty at Murray State University; they have a young daughter, Grace. We welcome to your new position, Kate!

Musical Notes

From Your FPC Choir

We're looking forward to another year of making great music and having warm fellowship! Choir rehearsals begin again Wednesday, August 9th from 7-8 PM in the church sanctuary; childcare will be provided Wednesday nights and Sunday mornings for those who need it. If you're someone who loves music and has been considering joining a choir, consider this your personal invitation! We'd love to have you. Refer any questions to Kate Tombaugh : kate@katetombaugh.com.

Youth-Led Sunday Worship

Sunday, October 29th

Church Youth, grades 2nd through 12th, will be leading our worship service in liturgy and song on Sunday morning, October 29th. We will have a TBD Wednesday night rehearsal during the normally-scheduled Youth Time, a pizza party/rehearsal following church 10/15, and a final rehearsal 10/29 during Sunday school. If you would like your student to be involved, please email Kate: kate@katetombaugh.com.

We are pleased to officially introduce you to our Sunday nursery attendant, Payten Caldwell. Payten was hired last Spring, when she completed her second semester at Murray State University as an Art Major. She is always drawing -- in cartoon and realistic styles -- preparatory to further work in Graphic Design and Animation. This Summer Payten was resident staff for five weeks at Camp Kum-Ba-Ya in Marshall County as a cook's assistant and dish washer. She is currently engaged and planning for the wedding next May to Eugene Lopez, the oldest brother of her predecessor in the nursery, Felica Lopez.

We officially welcome you to your position, Payten!

Head & Heart Update

Head & Heart will meet on Thursday, August 17th, at 7pm, in the Session Room at First Presbyterian Church. We will conduct a final review of John Dominic Crossan's book, "How to Read the Bible and Still be a Christian." Head & Heart is always looking for new members. Regular attendees would likely describe themselves as seekers. Most attend a church, but some have no ties to organized religion. We regard ourselves as intellectually curious, open to new ideas, to each other, and to spiritual growth. We try to better understand where we came from (religiously and spiritually) and where we would like to go. Some of us see ourselves as "progressive" or "emergent" Christians. Others refuse all labels. All are welcome.. Call or email Ken Wolf (270 293-5502) or wolken43@gmail.com with any questions.

We are pleased to announce the addition of another new staff member, Andrea French, who started in July as our new Church Secretary. Relatively new to Murray, Andrea and her family moved here from Charleston, Illinois in July of 2016. For the last several years, Andrea has been a work-at-home mom, taking care of her two precious children, Cabot (7) and Joelle (4), while supporting her husband, Dr. Todd French, who, last fall, started his position at Murray State University as Assistant Professor of Music, Tuba/Euphonium. Andrea has made it clear she has a heart dedicated to helping others, and naturally gravitates toward careers that are service-oriented. She also immensely enjoys working with the elderly. Andrea previously held the position of Programming & Public Relations Director for the Coles County Council on Aging LifeSpan Center in Charleston, Illinois, and also worked for the American Cancer Society as a Community Development Director in Bloomington, Indiana. She received her Bachelor's Degree from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, with a major in English and a minor in Women's Studies. Andrea is also the Owner of an antique/vintage textile business, with storefronts on both Etsy and Ebay. She enjoys spending time with her family (near and far), trying new recipes (her husband is a great guinea pig!), listening to music, and learning to sew. While Andrea is technically from Sioux City Iowa, don't be surprised if you see her sporting Nebraska Cornhusker gear from time to time. If you haven't met Andrea yet, please stop in our office soon. She is looking forward to meeting you and is poised to help.

We welcome you to your new position, Andrea!

Model Airplane Exhibit

Coming to First Presbyterian Church on Rally Day: Sunday, August 20th

Longtime Church Member, Dr. Harry Conley, will feature his prized model airplane exhibit at First Presbyterian Church on Rally Day, Sunday, August 20th, from 9am-2pm. You will have the once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to view over thirty hand-made model airplanes, which were carefully crafted from balsa wood-tissue paper. Your heart will soar as you view models from the famed Wright Brothers, Charles Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis, Amelia Earhart's transatlantic plane, and Howard Hughes' eight-engine plywood plane, just to name a few. With wing spans from ten inches to forty-eight inches, there will be something for everyone! Some models even have motorized propellers and lights. All models are stationary. Please encourage your family and friends to take advantage of this unique opportunity. The exhibit will be open to the public after church, from 12-2pm.

Request For Choral Intern Sponsors: How Your Donation Can Make A Difference

submitted by Kate Tombaugh, FPC Choral Director

As a twice-fellow church intern and a life-long chorister, I am very proud of the thriving Choral Intern program we have built at First Presbyterian Church. We are seeking program sponsors to help us sustain this wonderful program in its fourth year, with four interns at $850 each for the 9-month school year stint, helping as section leaders on Wednesday nights and Sunday mornings. We hope you will prayerfully consider supporting this great endeavor. In the meantime, I thought I would share with you my personal experience as a choral intern, starting back in 2004.

When I first started college at Illinois Wesleyan University, I experienced a serious internal struggle in trying to figure out how to continue my spiritual journey and attend Sunday morning worship, yet still be able to finance my college education. (This is not an uncommon problem for musicians who are faithful yet whose main income results from the same gifts they can add to a church community).

Lo, to my surprise, Second Presbyterian Church had a choral intern program just down the road from my college, and I was blessed to be accepted into the coveted position my sophomore year. Although I didn't know what to expect at the time, I can enthusiastically state now that my gifts from the church those three years were ten-fold my weekly salary. Yes, I was able to breathe easier, knowing I was making an income; an income, by the way, that I was even more proud to receive as a first-time professional musician. What I didn't expect was how, within that choir, within that church community, I found fellowship and support that I didn't know I had desperately missed my whole freshman year of college. I had felt listless since leaving my long-time faith community in Streator upon graduation, but had no solution or answer as to why I was feeling that way, or how I could fix it.

I felt proud to be pursuing my degree in Music and applying what I was learning every week at choir practice on Wednesdays, helping teach and support the choir, and learning how to be a musical leader, while receiving continued training and performance experience through the church. I understand now, so many years later, just how important it is for college-aged students to have multigenerational engagement, when so much of their life at the university is centered around classes and activities with peers. I was lucky that this opportunity 'found me' and allowed me the great gift of continuing to LIVE while I was a college student, and I truly believe it was my experience as a choral intern that jumpstarted again my faith journey at a time when I was very unsure.

Later, while studying my masters in Cincinnati, I was a choral intern at St Thomas Episcopal Church for three years (grad school and beyond), and I am grateful to say I had an equally inspiring and heart-warming experience there. Life-long relationships were created, and it helped me regain my purpose as a singer, and allowed me the opportunity to get outside of myself and be part of a faith community during a very difficult degree-seeking time.

As the new choir director at FPC, I am very pleased that our faith community regularly shows how much we appreciate and support the arts. When I first began attending FPC in 2014 as a newlywed and a newcomer to Murray, it was Pastor Renee's insightful and thought-provoking sermons, the great music, and the supportive congregation that assured Steve and me that FPC was to be our new faith home.

I hope the choral intern program can continue as a long tradition at FPC. We will gratefully accept any monetary gift beyond your pledge to support this fine and important program.

I will give thanks to you, LORD, with all my heart; I will tell of all your wonderful deeds.

Psalm 9:1

"Dear Presbyterian Family---Now that my husband is home and taking slow but promising steps to recovery, I want to let you know how grateful I will always be for all of your prayers and caring. Whether they came via voicemail or email, texts or cards, and even personally-delivered lunches, your concern and encouragements gave me comfort and hope. It's my turn to send prayers of gratitude, for Michael's improving health and for each of you!"

Marcie Johnson

"The family of Mildred Valentine thanks the congregation for its friendship and care over the last five years while Mildred was a resident at Spring Creek Health Care. The many visits and the kind notes mailed (or left at her bedside while she slept) were always bright spots in an already-bright day. The congregational care committee never failed to include her and visits from the Montgomeries, Carol and Betty and, of course, Renee were special moments. She love to chat and continued to be a devout christian even as her mental strength ebbed over the years. The support for the family during the last month since her passing, and the welcome of her far-flung family to Renee's beautiful memorial service made her passing a continuation of the gentle moment it was more than a month ago. Thanks to Patsy, the Heaths and the Flemings for a memorable coffee after the service, and to the whole congregation for their prayers and care. She could not have had a better church family, and we know she is smiling her beautiful smile on you all even now."

Robert and Vicki, Roger, Rex and Keiko, Richard and Becky and all the Valentines and Andersons.

As we begin a new year of MOTA, we are excited about what God has in store for us. MOTA students are returning from wonderful summer internships and study abroad opportunities to continue their studies. I'm looking forward to talking with them about their adventures and to see how God has worked in their lives. We will continue our fellowship, service, and study programs as the semester commences. As part of our missions program, we are planning to return to Guatemala this year with Jenna Goggins and her team. I have included important dates in the August Calendar. If you know of a student who is new to Murray State, and might be interested in MOTA, please let me know. The first MOTA fellowship, an ice cream social, will be on Tuesday, August 22nd at 7pm at the MOTA House. Da'sha Tuck is serving as our campus intern this semester and will be living in the MOTA House. I look forward to working with her in this capacity. We look forward to gearing back up for a great school year.
